Spouse: Rita Rosser Baker BA '59

Spouse's current job/activities: Rita is a civic leader and board member of every nonprofit organization you can name.

Family: Terri Baker McMahan, our oldest daughter and graduate of OU lives in Altus, Oklahoma, with her husband, Kyle, and her two daughters: Megan, who has graduated from OU and is now in OU Medical School; and Ally, who is a junior at OU and planning to be a dentist. Terri is the head PT for the Altus City Schools.

Sharrill Baker Hemry, our other daughter and graduate of OU lives in Owings Mills, Maryland, with her husband, John; and three children, Carolyn, Jack and James. Sharrill is a retired Commander from the U.S. Navy and works as an intelligence analyst for the government.

Kendall Rosser Baker, our only son and graduate of the University of Texas/Arlington with four degrees, lives in Mansfield, Texas, and is a confirmed bachelor. He works for Johnson & Johnson as a software program manager.

Employment: From 1959-1980, I was in the United States Air Force. I retired as chief pilot for Military Airlift Command in October 1980. From 1967-68, I was in Saigon, S. Vietnam as advisor pilot to the S. Vietnam AF. From 1976-1977, I was a C-5 Squadron Commander, 56 MAS and C-141 Squadron Commander, 57 MAS both at Altus AFB, Oklahoma. From 1980-83, I was with Boeing in Seattle. From 1983-1986, I worked with American Airlines in Dallas/Ft. Worth. From 1986-1994, I worked for Boeing in Huntsville, Alabama. I retired as associate contract integration manager for the space station in June 1994. From 1994-1995, I was with Lora in Chantilly, Virginia. From 1995-2004, I was with Camber in Huntsville, Alabama. From 2005-2007, I worked for 3Dsolve in Cary, North Carolina on the Board of Advisors; and from 2007 to present, I work with Lockheed Martin in a part-time role as senior advisor for new business in Cary, North Carolina.

Leisure time activities: I enjoy general aviation flying, expanding my aviation library which now exceeds 2,000 volumes and includes hundreds of pictures and lithographs, golf, golf ball logos, (over 2,500 in that collection), travel, I am a certified BBQ judge for Kansas City Barbeque Society, Rotary and still enjoy good bourbon.

What or who are you most looking forward to seeing? I'm hoping to see former Sigma Chi brothers and other familiar faces.

Please share what you've been up to for the past 50 years: I'll think of a whole bunch right after I send this in. I traveled the world and even got to Antarctica three times. I survived several tours to Vietnam. I was promoted to Colonel in the USAF. I had a successful business career in the civilian world. I maintained a five or less golf handicap for nearly 40 years (just a memory now). I've been an active Rotarian for a number of years, and finally, thanks to an incredible wife who raised our three children as I was gone for nearly half the time, I have been blessed with a 52-year marriage. Since I met her at TU, the university gets the credit for my lifelong good fortune.

BA English Literature

Spouse: Rev. Dr. Warren Danskin

Spouse's current job/activities: My husband is a retired United Methodist minister. He has served churches in New York City, Rio de Janeiro, Los Angeles, and London. He also worked as a NBC Broadcaster in New York City, and he speaks Portuguese and Spanish.

Employment: I am currently a professional actor/singer/dancer making films and commercials, and writing one-woman shows such as Will Rogers, Spirit of American, His Wife's Story, an official project of the Oklahoma Centennial. My husband, Warren, and I have a commercial running for Urban Financial Group, and I have one running for Hard Rock. They're both regional commercials and may go national. We're both in a film that runs on Lifetime TV each December entitled The Christmas Child. I've just finished the film The Gray Man and recorded CDs Lynette Sings Christmas! and Lynette Sings Broadway!

I've played on Broadway with Barbra Streisand in Funny Girl, with David Hartman in The Yearling, in the National Company of Once Upon A Mattress with Imogene Coca and in London's West End as reporter Mary Sunshine in Chicago. I've played the lead in musicals at Carnegie Hall, Lincoln Center's Avery Fisher Hall and Radio City Music Hall. Off-Broadway, I've played leading roles in Gigi and The Lion In Winter. I've been in TV's daytime dramas One Life to Live and As The World Turns. My former pianist and arranger was Barry Manilow with whom I cut a demo record. In the film, The Woman Chaser, which played the New York and SunDance Film Festivals, I play the mom of Patrick Warburton (Puddy from Seinfeld).

Leisure time activities: Warren and I are active at Boston Avenue United Methodist church where I grew up. This summer we served as enrichment leaders at Project Transformation, a literacy day camp for children. I work with the Junior League Sustainers, Chi Omega alumni, SAI alumni and PEO.

Please share some of your favorite TU memories: As head cheerleader, I loved the excitement of pre-homecoming night with students creatively decorating the lodges and houses on sorority/fraternity rows and the dorms. The cheerleaders ran along gathering everybody, with the group growing larger and larger until we reached the huge bonfire where we cheered on the team. The Hestwood Modern Choir was good training for show business. The campus newspaper was memorable for several reasons. A favorite was my brother, Dr. Bill Bennett's, weekly article "Uncle Willy Says." I was honored to be voted Varsity Nite Queen.

Dynamic professors were my English Literature professor and advisor, Dr. Donald Hayden, Literary Criticism Professor Dr. Manly Johnson, and Dr. Z for zoology, Mr. Eikenberry for Shakespeare, Boyd Ringo and Arthur Hestwood for piano and voice respectively. What an exceptional group!

Please share what you have been up to for the past 50 years:

I love to travel, have lived in London for eight years and visited 50 countries. I developed a program "Bloom Where You're Planted" to help Americans living abroad with cross-culture adaptation. I've served as director of music in Warren's churches in New York City and Los Angeles. Warren and I are directors of Travel Ministry for Educational Opportunities, a Christian travel company. Currently, I'm writing a memoir about my first years in show business in New York City, in other words, life after graduation from TU!

BA Journalism, History/Political Science

Employment: I began my professional journalism career the Monday I graduated from Fort Smith High School in 1955, working as a full-time reporter for the Fort Smith Times-Record. While attending The University of Tulsa, I worked my senior and graduate years as a full-time reporter for the Tulsa World. Born in Washington, D.C., I returned to that area in 1961 and was a reporter/photographer/editor for two Fairfax County (Virginia) weekly newspapers before joining the staff of the old Washington Star from 1963-1966. From 1966 until returning to Arkansas in December 1972, I was city and then executive editor of the Arlington-based Northern Virginia Sun, a daily.

I was a reporter for the old Arkansas Gazette from 1973 until resigning in 1985 to become an independent journalist and to add book and magazine writing to my efforts through my own company, Editorial Services, Inc. Although my Gazette assignments had varied widely, I became known primarily for environmental, investigative and political coverage and for being a fierce protector of the Freedom of Information Act, including serving on the state Electronics Records Study Commission in 1999.

I have written a half dozen published histories, including those of the Little Rock Wastewater Utility, the Arkansas Conservation Sales Tax and the Bayou Metro Wildlife Management Area.

Poor health forced my retirement on December 31, 2007.

Leisure time activities: I enjoy reading.

Please share some of your favorite TU memories: I still haven't forgiven the Sigma Nu's for running my bicycle up the TU flagpole. It took calling maintenance to get it down!

Please share what you have been up to for the past 50 years: I am the current parliamentarian and a former president of the Arkansas Press Women Association, a former board member of the National Federation of Press Women and have been active in the Arkansas Professional chapter of The Society of Professional Journalists. Among other honors, I was the Arkansas Wildlife Federation's 1985 Conservationist of the Year, 1996 Arkansas Journalist from the University of Arkansas at Little Rock; I received the Arkansas Press Association's Freedom of Information Award in 1997 and was inducted into the Arkansas Outdoor Hall of Fame in 1999. I also received the Ernie Deane Award for valor in journalism in 2004. I also have served on the boards of the former Greater Little Rock Mental Health Center and the Arkansas Women's History Institute and I am the volunteer resident librarian at Parkstone Place Retirement Center, where I live.

Spouse: Wanda W. Guinn

Spouse's current job/activities: She, like me, has been a caregiver to our older relatives and to our grandchildren for the past 12 years.

Family: Our children are Corry (53), Phyllis (50), and Alan (45), and our grandchildren are Corrinne (14), Cameron (11) and Cade (12).

Employment: I worked for five years in the Tulsa Public Schools ending in 1961 with embarrassment. Then I worked in the California Public Schools for 30 years and in the Stanford University Teacher Education Program for ten years.

Leisure time activities: I enjoy writing, reading, hiking and building.

Please share some of your favorite TU memories: As for specific classes, Ben Henneke taught “Reading Aloud Effectively”, or was that the title of his book? He once took a trip and asked me to cover his class. Surprise!! He insisted that I be paid, and I still have a copy of the check he gave me. I used the techniques he taught every day in my 40-year career. Dr. Lester Fred Zimmerman, English Department, once agreed to enter a faculty-student tennis tournament with me. I admired him greatly. I recall the thrill of getting to address him by his first name during a frantic moment of play: “Back, Les, back; it’s a lob!”

E.H. Criswell taught the “gatekeeper course” that all English majors had to pass before graduation. The first day of class he handed out 100 research questions that became the content of the course. He chose from this list when he wrote his final exam. It was a killer. Don Hayden was the model professor. He was witty, creative, scholarly, joyful, a man to admire. Professor Eikenberry was renowned as the last word on Shakespeare. You had to earn your way into one of his seminars with scholarship and flattery. He became intimate with his chosen few; and if you took a trip, he always asked you to “Send me a postcard with a picture of a church on the corner.”

And, who was the speech teacher who injured his back while lifting his partner in a theatrical touring company? He lingered in Tulsa for recuperation, was employed by TU, became my teacher, and I taught him how to drive. I told him to never brake or swerve for birds in the road because they always escaped. Before the next corner he ran over a bird. Immature and inept as a student, I was on probation at the end of my first year. Then I was drafted. I returned from Korea two years later and made the dean’s list of those who excel.

There is nothing to guarantee that a good student will become a good teacher. As a teacher of seniors at Edison High School, I didn’t recognize my shortcomings because I was so overwhelmed by what I was trying to do. Those students excelled despite my teaching. Many of them were Merit Scholarship finalists. I wish I could have taught them later in my career. During the last ten years of my career, I was working with graduate students in the Stanford Teacher Education Program (STEP), and I am still in touch with some of them.

I had an errand in Menlo Park last week that took me past the last high school where I once taught. Despite all the renovations and additions of new buildings, I saw nothing with my name on it. I checked the new library. I’m not there.

I have come to terms with the fact that we're all just passing through. We're all temps. I'm pretty sure I'm not going to end up on the side of Mount Rushmore either. That possibility I have with some confidence discarded. Maybe I'll get one of those bricks that the Alumni Association wrote me about. You can buy one for $100, and they will put a name on it, someone you admire. I could afford a hundred bucks and get one for myself.

I saw something like that, a public plaza with bricks to walk on or view, at Disneyland a few years ago. It's sort of like the palm prints on the sidewalk in front of Grauman's Chinese Theater in Hollywood, but available to anyone. I could purchase a brick on a walkway near the Magic Kingdom so that my family's name will be there forever, at least for a very long time.

But, ten years after you retire, will you be remembered at your work? Will your name come up among those having lunch? When I was a kid in Tulsa, I and my friends painted our initials on a section of big pipe that emptied runoff rainwater into the Arkansas River. It was my first attempt to try to assure myself a lasting presence in a place that mattered to me. By the time I entered high school, some other group of kids had painted their initials over mine. It's the way of the world. I did the same thing backstage when TU's Kendall Hall housed the theater. I painted my name on a stage flat and found it obliterated the next year.

Now, at 77, I am aware that whatever lasting presence I am trying to forge, someone will soon enough come along with their own can of paint the same way I did.

I measure my own influence with a shorter yardstick these days. It's enough to know that my granddaughter is really doing well at school, and in fact, wants to be a teacher according to a recent journal entry that 8th graders keep.

There is some gravy too. I am in touch with several young teachers. I get updates from a few old high school students. Marion Abbott from San Carlos owns a bookstore and is published regularly in Berkeley. Mike McCurry was President Clinton's press secretary. Lindsey Got is a baker. I got Christmas notes. I keep up with Bonita Sharma, a teacher. Jeff Rabin is a reporter. Carrie Todd dances nude at a San Francisco bar and was once jailed for shooting her husband. Keith Seinfeld is a reporter for a public radio station in Seattle. I'm building my own Mount Rushmore now, with perhaps a 50-year memory bank. But, where are my university classmates? Bob and Beverly Brinlee? Charleen Yeager? Jack Haynes? All those whose names I've forgotten?

I wish I could come to Homecoming. Perhaps another year.

Please share what you have been up to for the past fifty years: I have spent 40 years among books, lecterns, and classrooms while teaching literature, composition, and journalism. My coat pockets are full of chalk dust. I cherish my students, especially those young men and women from the Stanford Teacher Education Program. My wife of 57 years leads the way as we devote our time to three grandchildren and to the care of Rosie (92) and Vern (95).

I can see the end of my life from here and realize that every object in this well-lighted office will outlive me: the carpet, my radio, the bookshelf and my chair. Not one of these things will attend my last services, not even this phonograph with its chest of 33-rpm vinyl records that has provided a steady benediction of sound for so many years.

I'm thinking of embracing reincarnation. Once around may be enough for most people, but I think I would like to return as a waterfall, or maybe a Halloween party, or as an enormous piano. I would also choose to place that piano where Victor Borge might get to play it. Better yet, with my wife and granddaughter, we could be a trio of ushers and hang out for a lifetime hearing good music and seeing terrific plays.

Spouse: John Robert Haley BS '59 Mathematics
Spouse's current job/activities: John is retired.

Family: We have two daughters. One is a graduate of TU (Jennifer Haley-Ehlers '83, '89) who lives in Park City Utah with her husband, their 16-year-old daughter and 13-year-old son. The other graduated from SMU and University of Texas Southwestern Medical School in Dallas. She now lives in Bartlesville, Oklahoma with her husband, daughters 16 and 15 and a son 13. We usually have them all here in the summer for a week or so and have a wonderful time.

Employment: I am a homemaker.

Leisure time activities: Hobbies include my book clubs (I belong to two) and other opportunities to get together with my friends. I have been a church officer and have taught the two-year-olds for decades.

What or who are you most looking forward to seeing at your reunion? I am looking forward to seeing classmates and friends.

How have you been involved with TU since graduation? We have followed the athletic teams and of course, our daughter, Jennifer, was there too, so we feel involved.

Please share what you have been up to for the past 50 years: I have spent my time mostly raising a family and being involved in family, school and community activities as a volunteer or participant or spectator. I have been on the boards of several important volunteer organizations. I have traveled all around the USA, made several trips to Europe and a three-month visit to Australia and New Zealand.

Employment: I retired as the COB and CEO of Viking Software Services, Inc.

Leisure time activities: I enjoy golf, church, and gardening, Rotary, Literacy and Evangelism International serving as the chairman of the board of trustees.

What or who are you looking forward to seeing at your reunion? Everyone.

How have you been involved with TU since graduation? We hold season football tickets and have sent one daughter to TU.

Please share what you have been up to for the past 50 years: Working in the IT field and as an entrepreneur, I have been involved in starting two companies. We raised two wonderful daughters, one who attended TU. I have coached championship girls' teams in soccer, a game I have never played. I have been an adult bible study teacher, an active investor and stock market trader. I have been in every state except Hawaii and every continent except Antarctica.

Spouse: Marsha Hand

Spouse's current job/activities: Marsha is the executive assistant to the president of Health Texas Harris Methodist Hospital in Southlake, Texas.

Family: I was married for 46 years to Martha Jean O'Bryant Hand. We had two daughters, Coral and Joanna. Both earned masters degrees. My wife became ill after we had been married about nine years and eventually received one of the earliest, number five to be exact, liver transplants. She was the world's longest transplant survivor at the time of her passing — more than 27 years with a secondhand liver. She saw four grandchildren born and grow to adulthood after she was given "six months to live."

About a year-and-a-half after she passed away, I married Marsha Lynn Hand. I have to be careful, since there is just one letter different in their names, but life is good. Marsha has 11 grandchildren, and we are involved with all 15 of our grandkids, at least we sit in the stands and cheer at their games, recitals, plays, etc.

Employment: I am a justice of the peace in Judge Precinct Four, Denton County. After retirement from the Department of Justice, Drug Enforcement Administration, I was a private investigator. When I was young, I played young men's games. Being a judge is a good gig for an old fellow, as it doesn't involve heavy lifting. I do that with projects at home.

Leisure time activities: I wrote a novel, Jeremiah's Journey, an action, adventure, spy thriller strangely set in the Old Testament. It is still available on Amazon.com and other outlets. I love to sing, make that joyful noise. I have dabbled at painting, even taking life drawing at TU. I still enjoy gardening after conducting experiments in TU's old green house way back when.

What or who are you most looking forward to seeing at your reunion? I would like to see if anyone has more wrinkles than me. If one of our alums is a plastic surgeon and can make me a really good deal, I might be willing to part with a pound of flesh.

How have you been involved with TU since graduation? I have not set foot on the campus in 50 years. I read the publications and I attended the game last year when TU played SMU in Dallas. I occasionally contribute financially.

Please share what you have been up to for the last 50 years: I was in federal law enforcement as a special agent with the Drug Enforcement Administration, Department of Justice and was a supervisor of both an enforcement group and an intelligence group. After that, I had my own security business. My specialty as a private investigator was hopeless cases and much of my business came from referrals from other private investigators. One thing was on my bucket list and that was holding an elective office, so I ran for justice of the peace. In Texas, the school districts are charged with education, and we have a compulsory education law in the state. The truancy enforcement belongs with the justice of the peace's office. Currently, 90% of the Texas prison population did not finish school. It makes one wonder where all the justices of the peace have been. One of the biggest thrills I have had in this last job is having a high school principal shout at me as I came in the school for a visit, “Judge Hand, I can think of at least five students off the top of my head who would not have graduated if you hadn’t gotten hold of them.” If I’d gotten run over by a truck on the way, it would have been okay.

I probably have thrown up enough on the keyboard, but I have worked in 47 states, worked on three continents and traveled on two more. I was once president of the association of Federal Investigators, I was appointed by two Texas governors on the Crime and Narcotics Advisory Commission. I have been a longtime member of the Board of Consultants for the Christian Life Commission of the Baptist.

Family: My daughter, Laura Hogan, lives with her husband, Tom Kinscherf, and daughter, Emma, in Madison, Wisconsin. Both Tom and Laura work for the University of Madison, in research-related fields. Emma plays piano, volleyball, swims on a neighborhood team, rides horse back and participates in scholastic meets. She entered 7th grade this September.

My daughter, Leslie Hogan, and her husband, John Rickey, live in Santa Barbara, California, with their two daughters, Clara (four and 1/2 years) and Eliza Helen (four months). Leslie is a composer and teaches at UCSB in the College of Creative Studies. John is CEO of Far West Technology, Inc. and Health Physics Instruments, manufacturing radiation measuring products.

Don Hogan, my son, works as the lead artist in a computer games company in Austin, Texas. His wife, Shelly, is the regional communications liaison for the American Cancer Society. Grandchildren Tanner (9) and Lily (6) are entering fourth and first grades this fall. Tanner plays lacrosse, and both like to swim.

Employment: After some years as a teacher and small business owner, I earned my Master of Library Science degree in 1990. I worked in the Oklahoma City Public Library System, as a Reference Librarian at the University of Alabama (Tuscaloosa) and retired in 2005 as Assistant Dean for Public Services at the University of Texas at San Antonio Library

Leisure time activities: I have not found retirement exactly “leisurely,” but it does mean that I can choose from a wide variety of activities. I sing with the San Antonio Choral Society, a volunteer community chorus, and continue to serve on the board of directors this year as past president and development chair. I sing in our church choir and traveled with them to sing at Carnegie Hall in New York this year. I travel to see family and adventure is always in the plans. At home, I garden, sew and quilt a little, visit with friends and volunteer as a Maverick Library Friend in San Antonio. I love the monthly lunch brunch socials and special events with my Chi Omega sisters here in SA.

What or who are you most looking forward to seeing at your reunion: I’ll see several special friends because they keep in touch, but will enjoy seeing former friends who remind me of those years at TU. I want to see all the changes to the campus. The last time I visited, the construction was amazing and also kept me off the campus.

Have you been involved with TU since graduation? No, except for a few visits back to see the campus and as an occasional donor, I have not had family in Tulsa for over 20 years. I was pleased to see The University of Tulsa’s partnership with the Gilcrease Museum, where I was a volunteer and participated in summer digs with Thomas Gilcrease in the ’50s.

Please share what you have been up to for the past 50 years: Hmmm. I was married in 1960 and moved to Madison, where our first daughter was born. Then I followed my Marine Corps husband to Camp LeJeune, North Carolina, where our second daughter was born. I lived in New Mexico before returning to our “roots” in Oklahoma. Our son was born at Tinker AFB in OKC, while at a duty station in Norman, Oklahoma. I also taught school briefly. Among other things, we enjoyed a 35-acre “ranchette” and raised sheep before going into the flooring business for ourselves in Purcell, Oklahoma. I moved on to Norman after a few years and went back to school for my MLS, graduating the same year as Don and Shelly in 1990, then we moved to Alabama for several years where I still have many friends. Moving to San Antonio in 1998, I felt I’d found my home again. Life is good.

We have five grandchildren, three granddaughters, one a new TCU freshman, and two very new grandsons. My wife's maternal family lived in Tulsa, and had three TU graduates - Harold H. Cooper BS '31, Helen Cooper Zane BS '32, and Ruth Cooper Hone's husband, Herb BS '40. Ruth and her husband, Herb, were contemporaries of Ben Henneke. All things cooperative, my wife and I will celebrate our 50th anniversary in March.

Employment: From 1959-1974, I was with Texas Instruments /Geophysical Services Inc. Then I worked at The University of Tulsa from 1974 – 1980 in the department of Earth Sciences (Geophysics). From 1980-1995, I was employed by Mobil Research and Development Co. From 1996-2002, I was at various telecom companies as a contract software engineer. From 2004-present, I have worked as an adjunct professor of physics at Richland College of the Dallas Community College District

Leisure time activities: Being old and tired seems to fit. Actually I enjoy teaching, working in the yard (temperatures below 100 F), playing bridge (very poorly), and doing genealogy studies. I am an avid history nut and computer geek.

What or who are you most looking forward to seeing at your reunion: I hope my former roommate, Robert Bloden, attends; also, there are a lot of my other old friends from John Mabee Hall that I would like to see. Unfortunately, most of my faculty friends are gone, but I hope to see some old student friends from the engineering school.

How have you been involved with TU since graduation? I taught in the engineering school, 1974-1980. I'm a member, but not very active, of the Dallas/Ft. Worth Chapter of the TU Alumni Association. I always contribute (although at a low level) to the Annual Fund.

Please share what you have been up to for the last 50 years: I've been trying to keep my head afloat economically and raise a family. I was fortunate to complete advanced degrees at SMU (MS Physics) and MIT (PhD Geophysics) and that I was able to spend most of my active career doing things I enjoyed. I am still a scientist and try to learn new things every day. I enjoyed living in Tulsa twice and can't think of a better place to raise children. I have been active in the Society of Exploration Geophysicists, headquartered in Tulsa, as a member from 1961-2009. I was the associate editor of the SEG Journal Geophysics 1984-1986. I have been an associate member of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, headquartered in Tulsa, since 1975, and I have been a member American Institute of Archaeology since 1970.

Family: My first wife, Pat Hartline, BS '57, died in 1990. We had two daughters, Jeri, who operates a company which boats the Grand Canyon; and Jaque, BS '85, who is a well site geologist. I have two grandchildren and one great-grandson.

Employment: I worked at Tulsa Little Theatre as a tech director/assistant director, as KTUTV director and "Shaggy Dog." I also worked at the University of Wisconsin. Then I worked as an instructor of radio-TV-film at the Tulsa City County Library, and then as manager of the government access TV channel at Time-Warner Cable system manager in Canon City.

Leisure time activities: At 76, I've slowed a bit, but I still like rafting. After 12 years on the wait list, I got a permit and rowed my raft on an 18-day private trip through the Grand Canyon. My daughters were along in their own boats. I have a small shop where I like to repair broken things and make new things to break. For years, Pat and I backpacked in Utah and Arizona. Our favorite place was the Grand Canyon. One year we took an 8-day raft trip in the Canyon. Since then I've run the full length of the Canyon several times, and have also run hundreds of miles on several trips on the upper Colorado and Green Rivers. I learned to fly a few years ago and enjoyed that for a while, but my eyes began failing and I had to ground myself.

What or who are you looking forward to seeing at your reunion? At this time, it's doubtful that I will attend, but keep me informed. I would like to tour the campus. I'm told there are a number of new buildings. I'd like to see the new theatre stage. I can't remember who else graduated that year, but I'm sure I could find someone.

Please share what you have been up to for the past 50 years: I have a "Trophy Wall" with several plaques from Time-Warner and The Canon City Chamber and Jaycees. I was once pictured on the cover of the Times Warner Cable annual report. There is also a large color picture of myself as Shaggy Dog with Mr. Zing (John Chick BA '56, MS '60 and theatre major) and Tuffy. Family: I have three children and five grand children: Wes, 27, is an attorney; Will, 25, has earned an MBA from Missouri University; Michael, 20, is a sophomore at Duke; Matthew, 18, is a senior at Joplin, Missouri high school; and Meghan, 14, a freshman at Joplin, Missouri high school.

Employment: From 1959-1963 I attended Seminary. From 1964-1969, I served the First Christian Church in St. Joseph, Missouri. From 1970-1987, I worked at Inter-Serv, a faith-based nonprofit housing organization serving low income elderly. From 1987-2007, I was the CEO of Christian Church Homes in Northern California, serving housing needs of low income elderly, and then in 2007, I retired.

Leisure time activities: I enjoy hanging out and traveling with my children and grandchildren, volunteering with an international humanitarian organization working in developing countries. I have pursued an avocation of studying transpersonal psychology for 40 years.

What or who are you looking forward to seeing at your reunion? During my freshman year at TU, I met two other pre-ministerial students, Clay Ballard and Nelson Irving. We became fraternity brothers at Sigma Chi. The three of us all continued our path into the ministry, married and had children. My children call them Uncle Nelson and Uncle Clay, and I am close to their children as well. It has been a terrific 50-plus year friendship with these two TU alums.

How have you been involved with TU since graduation? I enjoyed attending a gathering of past and present TU Student Association presidents a few years ago and have maintained my connection with the Alumni Association.

Please share what you have been up to for the past 50 years: I have been raising my family, developing and managing housing for very low income elderly persons for 37 years, serving on the board of directors of CHF International for 25 years and chair of the board for six years. This involved traveling once to Iraq, several times to the Middle East, Africa and Central America. I spent the first three months of 2007 volunteering in Mongolia and will be working in Honduras during October of this year.

Employment: I am chairman of the board of McGraw Realtors and vice chairman of the Oklahoma Centennial Botanical Gardens. After graduating from law school, I joined Bank of America in San Francisco where I worked from 1959 to 1961 as an assistant trust officer. Part of my responsibility was to manage properties. In 1961, I returned to Tulsa and joined Crouch Davisson Mulhall Realtors as a real estate sales associate until 1965. I formed McGraw Breckinridge Realtors in 1965, which merged into McGraw Davisson Stewart Realtors in 1986. In 1986, I served as president of the Greater Tulsa Board of Realtors and then past board director for over ten years. I served two years in the Oklahoma House of Representatives. Then in 1966, I served six years in the Oklahoma State Senate. I was honored by being inducted to the RELO Hall of Fame.

Leisure time activities: We travel quite a bit and enjoy photography. We have traveled to more than 75 foreign countries.

Please share some of your favorite TU

memories: I attended law school at night, worked for two years in the law library and worked full time for Kewanee Oil Company in the lease records section for four years. My favorite professors were Joe Morris, John Hager and Philly Landa.

Who or what are you most looking forward to seeing at your reunion? David Hall was in our class. It would be fun to catch up with him.

How have you been involved with TU since graduation? I am an active member of The University of Tulsa law alumni board.

Employment: I have been an associate/broker with McGraw Realty for 32 years. I'm still selling those houses and loving it as much as ever!

Leisure time activities: I am involved with Junior League activities and have volunteered with Meals on Wheels for 25 years. I have a passion for travel! I enjoyed skiing and running until my knee gave out. Now I walk lots. I have been tutoring children at CARA in North Tulsa. I also babysit my "grands" as often as possible.

Please share some of your favorite TU memories: I enjoyed sorority rush, Dr. Lowe's philosophy class, Grady Snuggs' Old and New Testament classes and visiting the prison at McAlester with my sociology class. I'm a pacifist!

What or who are you most looking forward to seeing at your reunion? Everyone. I want to see if I remember anyone!

How have you been involved with TU since graduation? I have been an advisor to the Kappa Kappa Gamma chapter here at TU. I have audited various courses and attended most of their guest lectures.

Please share what you have been up to for the past 50 years: We moved a lot with IBM to Kansas, Chicago and Michigan, for example. We skied all over Colorado and had other travel experiences in India, Russia and Egypt. I love learning other cultures and living with them. We also had a mission trip to Africa. I've had a wonderful 50 years with lots of adventures. It helps to be spontaneous. I'm hoping to retire to Italy some day or an apartment in New York.

Employment: I work at my law practice, James E. Poe Attorney, P.C. (d/b/a Covington and Poe). I have been in private law practice since law school graduation in 1959. I recently received my 50-year pin from the Oklahoma Bar Association. I'm still in active civil practice in Tulsa. In the past, I also served eight years on the Tulsa County Excise/Equalization Board, three times as chairman. I am currently a member of the Board of Directors of Oklahoma and a former chairman of Attorneys Mutual Insurance Co., a professional liability insurer.

Leisure time activities: We enjoy traveling and have visited over 20 foreign countries; fishing, hunting, spectator sports etc. I am a former board member of the Tulsa Area Junior Achievement and Oklahoma/Western Arkansas Alzheimer Association. I am also a former adult sponsor for Young Tulsans concert band.

Please share some of your favorite TU memories: Regarding law school, all classes were at night when I started in 1955 as the day division on campus began between then and 1959. Everything was at 512 South Cincinnati initially. Especially vivid is our introduction to the study of law by Professor

Phil Landa, "Look at the person to your right" he said. "Take a good look because he won't be here next semester, we're going to flunk him out."

What or who are you most looking forward to seeing at your reunion? I'm hoping to see former classmates who are still with us, as many are deceased.

How have you been involved with TU since graduation? I am a fan of TU sports and various law school activities. In May 2007, I received the law school's "Lifetime Achievement in Law" award, of which I'm very proud.

Please share what you have been up to for the past 50 years: I have been involved in various law-related activities in Tulsa and Oklahoma with miscellaneous associated travel including a comparative law study tour of four Russian cities in 1984, just after President Reagan's decision to deploy missiles around Europe. Later, I was with other lawyers visiting Hong Kong just before its transfer from the Brits to China. My wife, Ginny, has served on the Board of Visitors of the Henry Kendall College of Arts and Sciences. We have three children, all of whom attended TU or law school and one is a law graduate.

Family: I took care of my aunt and sister until both died, and I never married. I guess the libraries I served were my children.

Employment: I was a field librarian for the Oklahoma Department of Libraries from 1960-63. I was the director of Library Demo Services for the Missouri State Library from 1964-1966. I served as the library director of the Western Plains Library System in western Oklahoma, including Custer, Dewey, Roger Mills and Washita Counties, from 1966-2003. While I was a student, I worked in the TU Library and on the Tulsa Public Library bookmobile. I also worked under Allie Beth Martin on the election campaign in Tulsa to create the Tulsa County Library System and build the new building in downtown Tulsa in the Civic Center area.

Leisure time activities: I enjoy reading, writing, book reviews and historical articles. I write a newspaper column for Weatherford and Clinton, Oklahoma newspapers reviewing books. I also enjoy photography. A cat named Busyf runs my life.

What or who are you looking forward to seeing at your reunion? I won't be attending. I graduated in three years and three summers and so did not graduate with my class. I went on to graduate school at the University of Oklahoma where I obtained my Masters in Library Science in a year and a summer.

Please share what you have been up to for the past 50 years: I worked for libraries, books and worked on many community projects.

I served in every office for the Oklahoma Library Association and was given the Distinguished Service Award in 1974. I was named to the Oklahoma Library Association "Library Legend" list in 2007. I served 12 years on the Oklahoma Historical Society Board, an elected position and am a board member emeritus. I was awarded the Paul Harris Fellowship by the Clinton Rotary; served five years on the Clinton Regional Hospital Board, with two terms as president. I was the cochair of the Clinton Centennial celebration in 2003. I was honored by the Oklahoma Heritage Association for historical research, history slide/tapes and newspaper articles. I served on the American Library Association Council, as well as serving on the Caldecott-Newberry award committee. I worked with the Oklahoma State Library on two Governors' Conferences. I was a Congressional appointed delegate to the 1990 White House Conference on Libraries. I worked on 27 library elections and participated in a number of other community oriented events. I was a Sasakawa Fellow to Australia in 1985 and worked on several humanities grant projects in Oklahoma and on the local level. I was recognized by the Oklahoma Legislature when I retired for my service to Oklahoma and to libraries. I have a lot of recognition items, but what I appreciate the most was all the wonderful people with whom I worked. Trying to create libraries where there are none and to get folks to vote a tax to support them was/is never easy. I was privileged to work with many people who cared about books and libraries and stepped up to the plate for them and for me.

Leisure time activities: I travel when possible, including an annual walking trip to Cornwall England this year. Donna Ross Hogan got me started on these walks. So far, I've fallen in a creek in Scotland. I enjoy art lectures in San Diego and London. I write travel stories. I read both fiction and nonfiction. I am a member of two lecture clubs, and actually gave a popular talk on Oklahoma complete with country music. I walk when possible in San Diego Zoo. I also enjoy films and good restaurants. These days, when possible, I rent a little studio flat in London for a month and pretend I live there, as I did for five years in the '60s. I have lots more of the world to see and want to return everywhere I've been. My base camp is my little Coronado house. My next big goal is Botswana, a wonderful place I'm told. I've saved all my life for these adventures.

What or who are you looking forward to seeing at your reunion?

I'm looking forward to seeing the university and friends I made there are very important to me. If I'm unable to attend, I hope those friends will get in touch via e-mail. I booked an October trip last spring before I knew about the reunion. On trips home over the years, I so enjoy simply walking around the TU campus to reminisce and see the buildings, old and new.

How have you been involved with TU since graduation?

In 1984, I attended the 25th year reunion and was able to see and talk with old friends from TU days. While working at the Tulsa World, I served on the TU Alumni Board.

Please share what you have been up to for the last 50 years:

I started Software Enterprises in 1993.

Leisure time activities: I enjoy travel, music, photography and watching sports.

Please share some of your favorite TU

memories: Where else could I have found someone like Quendy Williams as a prospective wife? Tolerant woman, that Quendy. She's hung in there for 50 years and helped produce three good kids and four fine grand kids. But there were also some other great things, such as the old and evil professors who prepared us really well for our professions, especially the engineering sciences aspects. Participation on the track team from 1955-1958 and living in Memorial Hall were great – I made many friends there.

The Student Union respites also resulted in many good friendships as I learned to play bridge there. Remember Ben Simler's Bookstore and snack shop? Cheap books, good hamburgers, chili and malts! How about the many friends from KA fraternity? Ahh, the old rivalry between the KA's and the Engineers' Club over the KA cannon. Ahh, the good revelry at the Engineers' Club outings. I saved Arthur Hestwood the agony of having to kick me out of his choir by not auditioning to join it.

What or who are you most looking forward to seeing at your reunion?

I am most looking forward to seeing my classmates and team mates, because they were fun.

How have you been involved with TU since graduation?

I am an industry advisory board member for The University of Tulsa Petroleum Engineering Department, advisory board member of Tulsa Undergraduate Research Challenge (TURC) and a member of the Lettermen's Association board, the Golden Hurricane Club and the TU alumni association.

Please share what you have been up to the past 50 years:

My long time friend, Ronnie Morris and I usually do some guitar strumming when we get together. Ron's pretty good, I'm not, but Ron is sympathetic. I got a Bolivian charango and a ronroco. Both have very strange tuning. I couldn't play them so I developed a computer program to show me how to fret the chords. The program will work for any three to six stringed instrument. The program didn't improve my playing, but at least I can fret the chords! I went to China on business in 1980. I have been back about a dozen times since then, doing consulting and lecturing. I've made some good friends on those trips. The last four times I've gone, the agreement was that after I finish my work, some of those friends I designate get an expense paid, week long holiday to any place in China they choose and they have to take me along. I have had some fun trips to interesting places.

Please share some of your favorite TU memories: When I first came to TU, I had never been to Tulsa. I was from Little Rock and many students thought I had a funny accent. I loved all my art professors and remember great outings with Alexandre Hogue. He took us on sketch trips to Osage Hills State Park, girls in one cabin and boys in another. What a great experience to have been taught by him, Brad Place and Woody Cochran. I lived in Lottie Jane Mabee Hall and was the first freshman councilor along with my roommate Charlene Happel. We had great times in Lottie Jane. At Christmas we and the boys from John Mabee Hall caroled the Mabee's at their beautiful home. They seemed to look forward to our time with them, served us cookies and hot chocolate. I had many great times in Phi Mu Fraternity while on campus. I was the pledge advisor for two years and president my senior year. It was that year that the men of Kappa Alpha came to the lodge to sing to me because Ralph Veatch and I were pinned! Now we've been married 50 years! I remember Sharp Chapel being built and watching the beautiful windows being installed. They were thick glass pieces of brilliant color, I love them. I had a wonderful time at TU and have many more memories... just too many to share in this space.

What or who are you most looking forward to seeing at your reunion? I'm looking forward to seeing all of my classmates, because they were fun.

How have you been involved with TU since graduation? I have been active through United Campus Ministry.

Please share what you have been up to the past 50 years: The kids have all married and we have four wonderful grandchildren. I have from time to time done some pottery and jewelry making. We celebrated our 50th wedding anniversary by taking our family on a cruise to Alaska which was the event of a lifetime.

BA Management

Spouse: Louise

Spouse's current job/activities: Louise is a homemaker.

Family: Our children are Susan Hall and Robert Wagner. Our grandchildren are Eric, Lindsey, Meredith, Allison and Trevor Hall; and Jessie, Carson, Angie, Brady, Rachelle, Duke, Teresa, Sullivan and Nikki Wagner. We have one great grandchild, Ruby Hall.

Employment: I was employed by Skelly Oil Company after graduation. Skelly was acquired by Getty Oil Company, and Getty was acquired by Texaco. I worked in management areas with increasing responsibilities, retiring in 1987 as Texaco's manager of administrative and corporate services for Tulsa.

Leisure time activities: Louise and I have been lifetime outdoor people, enjoying camping, fishing, hunting and traveling. By being able to retire in 1987, we have thoroughly enjoyed all these hobbies. We are RV people and have a Holiday Rambler travel trailer. We have enjoyed cruises to the Caribbean and Alaska. Honestly, I never imagined how enjoyable a Caribbean Cruise can be. Our church is and always has been the center of our lives, and we have participated in the usual activities of our church, such as mission trips, building new churches in the Virgin Islands, and teaching Sunday School and singing in the choir. I have been singing tenor since the early days of John Burroughs elementary, Roosevelt junior high, and in the Nifty Class of '50 at Tulsa Central, belonging to the opera club and the annual Messiah in the old coliseum. Great memories.

What or who are you looking forward to seeing at your reunion? I want to see the old gang of night posters at First National Bank: Phil Judkins, John Philips and many others. Sad to say, an unusual number of our night posters have passed away: Howard Brown and Wally Maxey, to mention two.

How have you been involved with TU since graduation? I served as a participant in the Annual Conference of Accountants, representing the Tulsa Chapter of the National Association of Accountants. I also represented the Conference of Accountants as National Vice President of the Institute of Management Accountants. I taught two semesters of management administration for Chuck Scott in the evening program.

This is a good place to say our class probably enjoyed the best career and social opportunities in recent U.S. history. I truly love Tulsa; I'm always proud of Tulsa and enjoy seeing the people that I either knew or knew of all over the city, even those people who are getting quite elderly, where I threw their paper on Reservoir Hill during WW II. We were transferred to Vancouver, Washington, from 1966 to 1969, where I served as controller of a plywood company that Skelly bought. The Northwest area is beautiful, but Tulsa is where my roots are.

Please share what you have been doing for the past 50 years: Aside from the 28 years employment with the oil companies, I really enjoyed being interim president of Junior Achievement of Tulsa, an organization that teaches by example economics at the 8th grade level and entrepreneurship at the high school level. I would be remiss if I did not mention the love of our lives, our two children and their spouses and our 14 grandchildren and one great grandchild. In addition to them all being in Tulsa, we have the pleasure of all living on the same 40 acres two miles west of Jenks. It's a grandparents' dream.

Spouse: Patricia

Spouse's current job/activities: Patricia is a watercolor artist and interior decorator.

Family: I've been married to Pat for 45 years. We have three children, three grandchildren and one Yorkshire terrier.

Employment: Most of my career was working in international business with consumer package goods companies. Mainly I worked for Vicks, 21 years; Procter & Gamble, four years; Noxell, two years; Bristol-Myers Squibb, three years; and Combe, six years. Procter & Gamble acquired Vicks, Noxell and Clairol Division of Bristol-Myers, so I'm well acquainted with company mergers.

Leisure time activities: I enjoy reading, church activities, volunteering as a literacy coach, watching TV, including commercials, and watching my investments gradually disappear.

What or who are you looking forward to seeing at your reunion? I'm hoping everyone will have name tag to refresh my aging memory.

How have you been involved with TU since graduation? Very little, since I seldom visit Tulsa. I follow the football and basketball teams when I can either in the newspaper or on TV.

Please share what you have been up to for the past 50 years: Immediately following graduation I volunteered for the Army draft and was stationed at the Army Pictorial Center in New York City where I directed some 15 training films and was sent to CBS Television Workshop for six months of training with Alber McCleery. After the Army, I received a Master's of Business Administration degree from Oklahoma University. I started working for Hallmark cards and met my wife in the New York office of Hallmark. After one year with Hallmark and one wife, I started working for Vicks. While working in international business, we lived in Australia for two years, the Philippines for three years, Japan for five years and Puerto Rico for two years. I've traveled to 45 foreign countries and have been fortunate to see much of the world and experience many cultures. Wherever we've moved, we've been active church volunteers including teaching Sunday School, serving as a deacon and currently hosting a small group Bible study.

BA History

Spouse: Margaret Yvonne Williams

Spouse's current job/activities: Margaret is a retired occupational therapist and enjoys gardening.

Family: We have three children, five grandchildren, and five great-grandchildren.

Employment: I am Professor Emeritus Religion at Syracuse University, where I taught from 1966-1998. I served Methodist churches as a student minister from 1956 to 1962. During my Ph.D. studies, I was a part-time pastor in Illinois and Ohio, 1962-1966.

Leisure time activities: I enjoy reading and doing volunteer work for my church.

How have you been involved with TU since graduation? I participated in the memorial conference for Prof. John Gammie in 1990, and I was a visiting professor of religion from 2000-2001. I reconnected with Paul Brown in 2001.

Please share what you've been up for the past 50 years: I received a Masters of Divinity degree from Perkins School of Theology, S.M.U., in 1962, took courses at the University of Chicago in 1962-1963, and completed my Ph.D. in Hebrew Bible and Cognate Studies at Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion in 1966. Besides teaching university courses, I have written four books and edited or translated eight others. The most important books I have authored are The Bible, Violence, and the Sacred (Harper, 1991), and Trinity (1995). I am currently writing a history of the Colloquium on Violence and Religion, which I organized in 1990. In 1993, I converted to the Roman Catholic Church and have been active in parishes in Syracuse, New York and Edmond, Oklahoma. I teach for the Archdiocese of Oklahoma City, which offers college courses in theology as an extension program of Newman University in Wichita. I am a volunteer in a senior citizen program of St. John the Baptist Catholic Church in Edmond. Since retirement, I have traveled to Peru on a mission trip and more recently to Spain, Austria, and England in connection with my current writing project.

Spouse: Bernice

Spouse's current job/activities: Bernice is a homemaker.

Family: We have two children, Rick in Tulsa and Rhonda Rausch in Maumelle, Arkansas. We have four grandchildren, two boys and two girls.

Employment: I retired from ONEOK in January of 1991, after 42 years. I retired as senior vice president and chief financial officer. I spent all my working years with the same company.

Leisure time activities: I enjoy hunting, fishing and church.

Please share some of your favorite TU memories: I attended TU night school on the GI Bill after the Korean War. Vets were not welcome at TU back then, especially those who attended night school. That being said, I don't really have fond memories.

What or who are you most looking forward to seeing at your reunion? I look forward to seeing Johnnie Cherblanc.

BA Art

Family: My children are Tiffany Wise in Gainesville, Florida; Courtney Wise in Phoenix, Arizona; and Jason Wise in Kennebunk, Maine. My grandchildren are Dalton and Keegan Cook, and Violet and Stella Wise.

Employment: I retired as the planning director of Clear Creek County, Colorado in 2003. I previously worked as the school secretary at Georgetown Elementary and art director at the U.S. Jaycee National Headquarters in Tulsa. I owned a flower shop in Bixby, a frame shop and gallery in Pryor and an antique shop in Blackhawk, Colorado.

Leisure time activities: I enjoy painting, walking, hiking, gardening and community service. Although I'm "retired", I work as a senior tax advisor at H & R Block in Tulsa during the winter. I volunteer at the Tulsa Garden Center and various community projects in Georgetown. I have served on most local (Georgetown) boards and commissions, including the Board of Selectmen.

Please share some of your favorite TU memories: I enjoyed everything about the School of Art department, Alexandre Hogue, Brad Place, Woody Cochran and Duane Hachett. I also enjoyed Theta activities, including doing Homecoming decorations.

What or who are you most looking forward to seeing at your reunion? I'm hoping to see any classmates from the School of Art.

How have you been involved with TU since graduation? Since I've been away from Tulsa most of the time, I've had little contact with the university. I've attended a few art shows, plays and lectures.

Please share what you have been up to for the past 50 years: I've loved living in a Victorian town high in the mountains of Colorado. I live in an 1875 Victorian Italianate house, which I've been gradually restoring over 28 years.

BA Music, MS '71

Family: I had one son, Stephen William Yoder, 1964-1992.

Employment: I worked for BBD&O in New York City doing advertising. I taught drama and English in Madison, Central, and Tulsa Junior College in Tulsa; and then I taught the same in Arkansas schools, Berryville, Kingston, and Huntsville.

Leisure time activities: I write seriously, quilt for fun, read and swim.

What or who are you looking forward to seeing at your reunion? I'm hoping to see anyone from the theater or radio departments. I would love to see a play. I like the new building, but I miss the prefabs and creaky floors on the top floor of Kendall.

How have you been involved with TU since graduation? I earned my Masters in Theater in '69. I have appeared in several plays and musicals and attended many more.

Please share what you have been up to for the past 50 years: Primarily teaching. I love working with teens and watching their confidence grow through theater. I am glad I had the opportunity to work in diverse cultures, 50 years of "following my bliss" and finally accepting that I had it all the time. I enjoy interacting with young people and watching them grow as actors and discovering who they are and what they will be. I discovered the writer in myself while writing about my teaching during integration at Central High, "The Elephant in My Classroom."

Spouse: Marilyn

Spouse's current job/activities: Marilyn is busy grand mothering.

Family: We have three children, nine grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Employment: I was the Southeast Asia regional director of information technology for Ernst & Young. I was the vice president of MIS for LSB Industries. I was the director of MIS for the Laureate Psychiatric Hospital.

Leisure time activities: I enjoy gardening, photography, travel, I'm a beach freak, Las Vegas, craps and horse race handicapping, E-Bay collectibles, and I am a serious coin and seashell collector.

What or who are you looking forward to seeing at your reunion? Clay Ballard, Janet Bascom, Lynnette Bennett, Don Black, John Culter, Felicia Danuser, Hal DeShong, Donna Ross — all from Will Rogers High School; and Thomas Sontag from Marquette High School.

How have you been involved with TU since graduation? I am an occasional donor, and we have previously held season tickets to basketball and football programs.

Please share what you have been up for the past 50 years: We lived in Singapore and Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia for five years. I was responsible for information technology consulting for Ernst & Young in Singapore, Malaysia, Indonesia, Thailand, Hong Kong, and Taiwan. We traveled around the world about a dozen times. We focused on strategic information systems planning and advanced computer auditing in SE Asia and for the Arthur Young Southwest Region. I worked in Washington, D.C. for three years, holding secret clearance in the Navy and top-secret security clearance in the Air Force for work on the Strategic Total Atomic Global Exchange System and the Polaris Submarine Positioning Analysis System. I had frequent speaking engagements related to computer auditing, computer security and information systems planning in Tulsa, Singapore, Jakarta, Kuala Lumpur, and Penang. I taught computer seminars for Tulsa Computing Society and computer auditing seminars for EDP Auditors Association. I am a Certified Information Systems Auditor, Certified Management Consultant, Certified Master Gardener by OSU and a Certified SCUBA diver by Malaysia Armed Services.
